...uncovering your truth about being male in the REAL world...

A 9-week program designed to promote boy's natural strengths and to increase their options about being male in today's world. This program challenges myths about how to be a "real man" and engages boys in activities, dialogue and self-expression to question stereotypical concepts and to increase boys' emotional, social and cultural literacy by promoting valuable relationships with peers and facilitators. In a safe context boys can identify the positive and not-so-positive definitions about being male today.

Starting April 26th, 2011
Tuesdays 3:30pm to 5:00pm

for boys aged 10-13
